

West End Police Station

92 Boundary Street, West End, QLD, 4101

POLICELINK 131 444

"The West End Police Station is in the cosmopolitan centre of busy West End, centrally located on Boundary Street, West End. The suburb in general has seen a large amount of "gentrification" whereby some of the older boarding houses have made way for expensive townhouse developments, which have had the effect of displacing a large number of lower income residents. With West End being virtually an inner city suburb there has been steady increases in the cost of housing and land. As such, there has been a great deal of development in the area, not all of which has met with the approval of the afore-mentioned lower income residents."
